Next station: Omicron

- We anticipate BEM's net profit in 4Q21 to grow 209% q-q to THB335m thanks to the recovery in traffic and ridership.
- Omicron variant is a future downside risk to BEM. We expect a 15% downside risk to its 2022 earnings.
- Maintain BUY with our SoTP-based TP of THB9.90.

Strong recovery expected in 4Q21

We expect BEM's 4Q21 revenue to recover by 42% q-q to THB3.1b, as: 1) expressway revenue could surge by 49% q-q due to a 44% q-q increase in expressway traffic; and 2) mass transit revenue could also recover by 36% q-q, with ridership growing by 120% q-q. On the cost side, we expect BEM's expenses to start to increase in line with its revenue, and its maintenance expense could resume after a delay in this cost in the previous quarter. As a result, we expect BEM's 4Q21 net profit to grow significantly to THB335m (+209% q-q, -34% y-y).

Omicron variant poses future downside risk

Although the Omicron variant is believed to be less dangerous than the Delta variant, and many countries have opted not to impose lockdowns, we believe that if it starts to spread widely in Thailand, the number of people using BEM's service, especially mass transit, may be reduced significantly. The Thai government has already asked for the public's cooperation in avoiding crowded areas and working from home. The Omicron variant is now a future downside risk to BEM's 2022 net profit.

Risk of 15% earnings downside, with an 8% downside to TP

In our view, there is a potential 15% downside for BEM's net profit due to the Omicron variant. We expect the number of Covid-infected cases to keep rising and reach over 10k cases per day, according to our base-case scenario. This could lead to a flattening in mass transit ridership in 1Q22 compared to our current expectation that ridership should grow by 46% q-q in 1Q22. As a result, we think our earnings forecast for BEM in 2022 at THB3.2b (+229% y-y) could have a 15% downside risk to THB2.7b (+179% y-y). As for the maximum downside, we expect BEM's share price to not fall below THB7.60, which was the price level when the Delta variant hit Thailand in Aug-21. Therefore, compared to BEM's current share price, the downside risk should be limited, at only 8%.

Maintain BUY with TP of THB9.90

We maintain our earnings forecast and SoTP-based TP for BEM, but recommend keeping a watchful eye on the Omicron situation. BEM's earnings and share price are very sensitive to both the ongoing public health situation as well as signs of a recovery in ridership.

Investment thesis

BEM is the only public company that has been granted concessions to construct and operate expressways, which presently total 87.56km. The company has also secured two mass transit lines (Blue and Purple) and is ranked as the second-largest mass transit operator in Thailand.

The company has solid historical growth, and we expect that momentum to continue thanks to Bangkok's continued expansion and its citizens' demand for public transportation.

We expect the company to have a solid recovery on both expressway traffic and the ridership on its Blue mass transit line, following more visible signs of recovery, in line with the improving Covid-19 situation.

Company profile

Construction and operation of the Expressway and the operational management of the Mass Rapid Transit System, including related businesses.

Catalysts

- Gaining the upper hand in the bidding for the MRT Orange Line.
- Traffic and ridership should have a strong recovery after Covid-19 is under control.

Risks to our call

The key downside risks to our SoTP-based TP are 1) traffic and ridership recovering more slowly than our expectation; and 2) the company being unable to win the new mass transit project bids.

RECOMMENDATION STRUCTURE

Stock ratings

Stock ratings are based on absolute upside or downside, which we define as $(\text{target price}^* - \text{current price}) / \text{current price}$.

BUY (B). The upside is 10% or more.

HOLD (H). The upside or downside is less than 10%.

REDUCE (R). The downside is 10% or more.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

* In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.
