Divestment of solar farm in Japan

On 10 February 2022, GPSC announced the divestment of its 100% stake in Ichinoseki Solar Power 1 GK (ISP1) at the selling price of ¥3,860m or THB1,119m. ISP1 is a 20.8MW solar farm with an investment cost of ¥10b (THB3.15b), funded by 80% debt and 20% equity, and commenced its commercial operation date in 4Q17. ISP1 has generated around THB0.1b annually to GPSC with a feed-in-tariff of ¥40/kWh (THB12.6/kWh) for a 20-year power purchase agreement (PPA) with Tohoku Electric Power.

A before-tax gain of THB0.6b from the ISP1 divestment

At the carried book value of THB504m as of 3Q21, we estimate that GPSC will book a before-tax gain of THB615m in 1Q22. After the divestment of ISP1, GPSC still owns four operating solar farm assets, including 1) the 5MW CHPP in Thailand (100% stake); 2) 23.4MW private PPA solar farms in Thailand (100%); 3) the 55.8MW GRP1 solar farm in China (45%); and 4) the recently acquired 4.6GW portfolio of Avaada's solar farm platforms in India (41.6%). Currently, GPSC owns 2.6GW of renewable energy, which accounts for 37% of its total estimated capacity of 7.1GW at the end of 2022. GPSC aims to grow its renewable capacity to 8GW by 2030 via M&A and its organic growth strategy, mainly in Thailand, Taiwan, India, and Vietnam.

Margin pressure in 4Q21-1Q22

As one of Thailand's leading SPPs, GPSC owns and operates 2.2GW of SPP capacity (31% of total estimated capacity of 7.1GW at end-2022). However, most of GPSC's revenue is generated from the electricity and steam sold to industrial users, which accounted for 63% of its total revenue of THB18b in 3Q21. With the currently high gas cost but stagnant electricity tariff due to the government's price cap policy, we think GPSC's net profit from SPPs will be weak in 4Q21-1Q22, when we expect the gas price in Thailand to remain high.

Buy ahead of strong 2H22E earnings recovery

Maintain BUY and our SOTP-based TP of THB90. We think the downside is limited as GPSC's 1H22 net profit weakness is likely to be priced in, given its recent share price collapse of over 30% within six weeks.

RECOMMENDATION STRUCTURE

Stock ratings

Stock ratings are based on absolute upside or downside, which we define as $(\text{target price}^* - \text{current price}) / \text{current price}$.

BUY (B). The upside is 10% or more.

HOLD (H). The upside or downside is less than 10%.

REDUCE (R). The downside is 10% or more.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

* In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.
