Time to reload before strong 2Q22

- Slow recovery in 1Q22 NP of THB312m (+26% y-y, -68% q-q). A modest boost from NPLs was undercut by a dip in NPA sales.
- Expect a stellar outlook in 2Q22 on the back of stronger cash collection from both the NPL and NPA businesses.
- Maintain BUY with our 2022 GGM-based TP of THB25.5.

Gradual recovery in 1Q22 net profit from NPL business

BAM posted a 1Q22 net profit of THB312m, representing an increase of 26% y-y following a better cash collection result due to the gradual economic recovery. Total cash collection was at THB3.2b, an increase of 7% y-y, driven by the NPL side. However, 1Q22 net profit fell 68% q-q due mainly to seasonality and lower medium to large-sized NPA settlements. Its 1Q22 net profit accounts for 10% of our 2022 net profit projection. However, this is basically BAM's typical earnings pattern and therefore we see limited downside risk to our current forecasts.

Positive view from analyst meeting

At its analyst meeting, BAM's management expressed confidence that its cash collection in 2Q22 should improve y-y and q-q as 1) it is preparing to settle large NPLs; and 2) BAM has offered more relaxed terms for troubled debt restructuring (TDR), resulting in a higher cash inflow from TDR debtors. Presently, BAM is in talks with 5-6 banks to set up secured JV AMCs, with one JV likely to be concluded within 3Q22. BAM's initial investment for each JV would be THB100m-200m, with a D/E ratio of 5-10x, and an NPL portfolio size of THB2b-5b per JV. For the rest of the year, BAM expects banks to accelerate their NPL sales. BAM believes there are sufficient NPLs for all AMCs, but sees higher competition from new players, resulting in a slight increase in its acquisition cost. We have a positive view due to the strong signs of a cash collection recovery.

Expect a significant earnings surge q-q in 2Q22

We have a strong conviction that 1Q22 earnings have bottomed out and expect 2Q22 earnings to rise significantly q-q (but drop y-y from their high base) due to 1) the expectation of stronger TDR revenue; 2) revenue from some sales of NPAs sliding over from 1Q22 to 2Q22; and 3) efficient OPEX and cost of funds control.

Maintain BUY ahead of a strong recovery in 2Q22

We reiterate BAM as one of our top picks among diversified financials with our 2022 GGM-based TP of THB25.5. We think the recent drop in its share price reflects the slow recovery in 1Q22 and provides a good opportunity to accumulate BAM ahead of stronger growth in 2Q22.

Gradual recovery in 1Q22 net profit, mainly from its NPL business

BAM posted a 1Q22 net profit of THB312m, representing an increase of 26% y-y following a better cash collection result due to the gradual economic recovery. However, 1Q22 net profit fell 68% q-q due mainly to seasonality and lower medium to large-sized NPA settlements. Its 1Q22 net profit accounts for 10% of our 2022 net profit projection. However, this is basically BAM's typical earnings pattern therefore we see limited downside risk to our current forecasts.

1Q22 key highlights

- Total cash collection was THB3.2b (+7% y-y, -36% q-q). Cash collection from NPLs increased 15% y-y in line with the economic recovery. Meanwhile, cash collection from NPAs fell 5% y-y as there were no medium to large-sized NPA settlements in this quarter.
- BAM did a good job on its cost side. BAM was able to control OPEX effectively, resulting in its OPEX staying flat y-y. Also, its cost of funds was relatively stable q-q at 3.1%.
- BAM is gradually stepping back into growth mode, with NPL purchases amounting to THB1.3b in 1Q22 vs THB0.3b in 1Q21.

RECOMMENDATION STRUCTURE

Stock ratings

Stock ratings are based on absolute upside or downside, which we define as $(\text{target price}^* - \text{current price}) / \text{current price}$.

BUY (B). The upside is 10% or more.

HOLD (H). The upside or downside is less than 10%.

REDUCE (R). The downside is 10% or more.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

* In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.
