Aeroflex emerges as a key catalyst

- We remain confident that EPG's net profit should reach a record high at THB1.7b in FY22 (Apr-21 to Mar-22).
- We think the demand recovery for EPG's products plus Aeroflex's US capacity expansion should boost its earnings momentum.
- Maintain BUY and our TP of THB16.

Look for a record high FY22 net profit

We remain confident that EPG's net profit should reach a record high at THB1.7b in FY22 (Apr-21 to Mar-22), backed by Aeroflex's capacity expansion in the US by 4,000tpa, the strong demand for automobile parts for Aeroklas, and a resilient gross profit margin for Eastern Polypack (EPP), supported by strong demand.

Expect a solid net profit in 4QFY22

In 4QFY22 (Jan-Mar 2022), we project EPG to post a slightly weak net profit of THB386m, down 3.6% q-q and 4.5% y-y, due to weaker net profits from Aeroklas and EPP. We expect core net profit to rise y-y to THB397m, down 2.2% q-q but up 6.3% y-y, backed by a stronger y-y sales volume and gross profit margin (GPM) for Aeroflex thanks to the capacity expansion in the US. We project the GPM for Aeroflex, EPG's crown jewel, to improve y-y to 42%, up from 40.8% in 3QFY22, on the rising sales volume in the US market. However, we project the GPM for Aeroklas to soften from 32.5% in 3QFY22 to 31% in 4QFY22, dragged down by lower sales volumes for the canopy export market. The packaging unit under EPP is likely to see a weaker GPM from 19.7% in 3QFY22 to 19% in 4QFY22, caused by lower demand q-q due to the impact of Covid-19. We think EPG's 4QFY22 GPM will be at 32.5%, down from 33% in 3QFY22.

Rising equity income to further strengthen

Since posting a net loss of THB21m in 1QFY21 (Apr-Jun 2020), EPG's equity income has continued to see an upward trend, rising from THB21m in 2QFY21 (Jul-Sep 2020) to THB84m in 3QFY22, driven by the improving equity income from TJM, its associate in Australia which sells and markets off-road automotive accessories. In addition, the equity incomes from other associates have also improved sequentially, including associates in South Africa, China, and Turkey, thanks to the strong demand and improving operational efficiency.

Solid downstream play with a unique product portfolio

We maintain BUY and our TP of THB16, based on 20.1x FY22E EV/EBITDA. We think the demand recovery for EPG's products – insulators, auto parts, and packaging – along with Aeroflex's US capacity expansion, should boost its net profit momentum in 4QFY22-FY23.

Investment thesis

EPG is an innovator and manufacturer of plastic products, with a product portfolio that includes insulators, automotive parts, and accessories and packaging. The company's strengths lie in: 1) being the world's only producer of highly innovative insulator products using ethylene propylene diene monomer (EPDM) material; 2) ODM and OEM car accessories such as bed liners, deck covers, canopies, and side steps; and 3) its range of plastic packaging products – from ice-cream cups to microwavable food packaging for ready-to-eat meals.

EPG has six production plants for rubber insulation in Thailand, China, India and the US. Three of its six plants are wholly owned and the other three are joint ventures with local partners. For automotive parts, EPG has two plants in Thailand and Tennessee, USA, and two distribution centres in the US and Australia. For packaging, EPG has one facility in Thailand.

Company profile

EPG is a leading producer of polymers and a plastics converter with its own brands created by its successful innovation. EPG has three main businesses of insulators, automobile parts, and plastics packaging.

Catalysts

Lower material costs and higher demand for insulators, automotive parts and packaging are key potential earnings growth drivers.

Risks to our call

Downside risks to our EV/EBITDA-based target price include 1) a sharp rise in feedstock prices, driven mostly by a higher oil price; and 2) lower-than-expected demand for plastics used for insulators and the automobile and packaging industries.

Earnings sensitivity

- For every 1% increase in plant utilisation rate, we project FY22 earnings to rise by 2.5%, and vice versa, all else being equal.
- For every 1% increase in HDPE price, we estimate FY22 earnings to decline by 1.3%, and vice versa, all else being equal.
- Stability in crude palm oil price and a rising ME-CPO and FA-PFAD margin are key to earnings growth.

Aeroflex emerges as a key catalyst

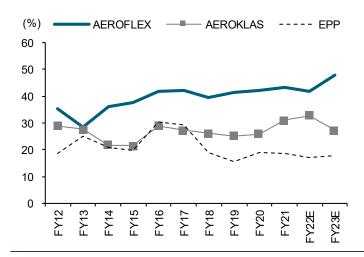

We remain confident that EPG's net profit should reach a record high at THB1.7b in FY22 (Apr-21 to Mar-22), backed by Aeroflex (insulator)'s capacity expansion in the US by 4,000tpa, the strong demand for automobile parts for Aeroklas, and a resilient gross profit margin for EPP, supported by strong demand.

According to management, the recent global shortage of semiconductor chips has had little impact on EPG's Aeroklas unit, thanks to its strong export volume to Australia and the demand recovery in the domestic Thai market.

Sources: EPG; FSSIA estimates

In 4QFY22 (Jan-Mar 2022), we project EPG to post a slightly weak net profit of THB386m, down 3.6% q-q and 4.5% y-y, due to weaker net profits from Aeroklas and an FX loss. However, we expect core net profit to rise y-y to THB397m, down 2.2% q-q but up 6.3% y-y, backed by a stronger y-y sales volume and GPM for Aeroflex thanks to the capacity expansion in the US with a higher gross margin than the Aeroflex sales in Thailand and Asia.

We project the GPM for Aeroflex, EPG's crown jewel, to improve y-y to 42%, up from 40.8% in 3QFY22, on the rising sales volume in the US market that should more than offset the weaker sales volume and gross margins in Asia.

However, we project the GPM for Aeroklas to soften from 32.5% in 3QFY22 to 31% in 4QFY22, dragged down by lower sales volumes for the canopy export market.

The packaging unit under EPP is likely to see a weaker GPM from 19.7% in 3QFY22 to 19% in 4QFY22, caused by lower demand q-q due to the impact of Covid-19.

Nevertheless, we think EPG's net profit in 4QFY22 will remain resilient, reflected in a high overall GPM at 32.5%, down from 33% in 3QFY22, backed by the improving gross margin for Aeroflex that should timely offset the weaker gross margins for Aeroklas and EPP.

Share of profit continues to rise

Since posting a net loss of THB21m in 1QFY21(Apr-Jun 2020), EPG's equity income has continued to see an upward trend, rising from THB21m in 2QFY21 (Jul-Sep 2020) to THB84m in 3QFY22, driven by the improving equity income from TJM, its associate in Australia which sells and markets off-road automotive accessories.

In addition, the equity incomes from other associates have also improved sequentially, including associates in South Africa, China, and Turkey, thanks to the strong demand and improving operational efficiency.

For TJM, in 4QFY22, we project that it could post equity income of THB15m, up from a net loss of THB10m in 3QFY22 caused by the economic shutdown on the resurgence of the Covid-19 pandemic in Australia. Management guided that operations are now improving after the economic reopening and are likely to improve further in FY23 (Apr-22 to Mar-23), benefitting from the branch expansion, operational streamlining to improve efficiency, and higher demand for off-road products in Australia.

Downside from higher raw material cost is limited

According to management, EPG has already locked in the price of its major raw materials, mostly the plastics polymers including polyethylene (PE), polypropylene (PP), ABS, and PET, for its Aeroflex and Aeroklas units until Nov-22.

Hence, the current spikes in the prices of polymers driven by the higher crude oil price should have a limited impact on EPG's gross margins. The selling prices for insulators and auto parts will be gradually adjusted upward to cover the rising material costs in the next 12 months, while the costs of raw material polymers should be rising at a smaller pace than the market prices, based on management's guidance.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

* In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.
