

Thailand Banks and Diversified Financials

Road to policy normalisation by the BoT

- On 30 Jun-22, the BoT announced new normalised financial policies which should have a neutral impact on the banking sector and a small positive impact on credit card operators.
- Due to the gradual economic recovery, we think it is unlikely that the BoT will issue new financial support policies.

New financial policies by the BoT

On 30 Jun-22, due to the gradual economic recovery, the Bank of Thailand (BoT) announced new normalised financial policies. These include 1) eliminating the dividend payment rate cap of not more than 50% of net profit due to the strong capital position of Thai banks; 2) increasing the Financial Institutions Development Fund (FIDF) rate to a normal level at 0.46% from 2023 onward, from 0.23% currently; 3) retaining three programs to support debt repayments for affected people, which are: a) the comprehensive long-term debt restructuring program, ending in 2023; b) the asset warehousing program, ending in Apr-23; and c) the rehabilitation program, ending in Apr-23; and 4) extending the 5% minimum payment rate for credit cards to end-2023 from end-2022 – an 8% minimum payment rate will apply in 2024 and then return to the normal rate at 10% in 2025 onward.

Banks: In line with expectations; neutral impact

We read measures 1-3 as neutral for the banking sector as these are in line with our and the market's expectations. As for dividend payments, we expect banks to gradually increase their payout ratios in 2022. However, we expect that the payout ratios will still be lower than in 2019. We expect TISCO (BUY, TP THB110) and KKP (BUY, TP THB86) to deliver the highest dividend yields at c7-8% and 4-5%, respectively. We maintain our Overweight view on Thai Banks, with KTB (BUY, TP THB16.4) and KKP as top picks.

Diversified financials: Slightly positive for credit card operators

We think unsecured loan lenders – KTC (HOLD, TP THB60) and AEONTS (HOLD, TP THB188) – might be positively affected by measure 4. The extension of the 5% minimum repayment would slightly improve their asset quality, resulting in a potentially lower credit cost. Their interest income might also slightly increase due to the slower debt repayment rate of their clients. Among diversified financials under coverage, asset management is our most preferred segment, while unsecured loan lenders are our least preferred due to their lower projected net profit growth at a 12% CAGR in 2022-24 vs 19% CAGR for the sector.

Unlikely to issue new financial support measures that might hurt lenders

In summary, we have a neutral view on the policy normalisation as it is in line with our expectations. Currently, we see limited a downside risk that the BoT will resume or create new financial support measures that could negatively impact banks and diversified financial companies, given the gradual economic recovery.

RECOMMENDATION STRUCTURE

Stock ratings

Stock ratings are based on absolute upside or downside, which we define as (target price* - current price) / current price.

BUY (B). The upside is 10% or more.

HOLD (H). The upside or downside is less than 10%.

REDUCE (R). The downside is 10% or more.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

* In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.
