Potential to sell asset management business, SCBAM

According to Bloomberg News on 8 July 2022, SCB has been speaking with financial advisers to explore a potential transaction for SCB Asset Management (SCBAM). A potential deal could value the business at USD1b-1.5b or THB36b-54b. This news would have a slightly positive effect on SCB's share price, but we think it would still take some time to complete the process.

Selling some portion of SCBAM could be the best option

SCB informed the SET that such discussions are in the early stages and there is no assurance that any such transaction may occur. To us, the company is in the process of transforming itself into a holding company, and wants to unlock its shareholder value. We, thus, think SCB might consider selling some portion or all of SCBAM, depending on the valuation and business opportunity. To us, if SCB sells some portion to a fund management expert(s), this could be the best option as the buyer(s) could support SCB to expand its business opportunities, possibly to expand its business abroad, amid the tighter competition in the asset management business in Thailand. The bank could also continue to enjoy a potential rise in SCBAM's net profit, while getting a lump sum to expand into other businesses in the future. If SCB sells 100% of SCBAM for THB36b-54b, it would net an extra gain after tax of cTHB29b-43b, implying THB8.4-12.7/share. However, we believe it would utilise most of this gain to set a special provision.

Might command the same valuation as KAsset

As for KBANK's potential sale of KAsset, based on Bloomberg's latest data that the selling price should be USD1.5b, it would imply a valuation of 19x P/E, 32x P/BV, and 0.034x P/AUM. If SCB sells 100% of SCBAM in the range of THB36b-54b, it would imply a valuation in the range of 23-34x P/E, 23-34x P/BV, and 0.022-0.034x P/AUM. We think that the valuation of SCBAM might be as high as KAsset in terms of P/AUM, as their reputations and asset AUM are likely the same.

Maintain BUY at TP of THB134

In the short term, we think SCB is less attractive as the market shifts focus to rate hikes and the high inflation environment, rather than transformation. However, we still think that its great transformation will allow it to penetrate the high-growth potential digital industry. Thus, we reiterate our BUY call, with our 2023 SOTP-based TP of THB134.

Investment thesis

In the short term, we think SCB is less attractive as the market shifts focus to rate hikes and the high inflation environment, rather than transformation. However, we still think that its great transformation will allow it to penetrate the high risk-reward lending industry and high-growth potential digital industry. Thus, we think that SCB is in a good position in the banking sector to benefit from the region's digital age. Hence, we reiterate our BUY call.

Company profile

SCB is Thailand's first commercial bank, established in 1906. It is ranked the fourth largest in terms of total loans, the fourth largest for deposits and the fourth largest for total assets as of end-2021. It had a total of 718 branches, with 20m digital users at end-2021.

Catalysts

Potential share price catalysts for SCB include:

- 1 The success of long-term comprehensive debt restructuring;
- 2 The success of its transformation plan;
- 3 The announcement of a special dividend.

Risks to our call

Downside risks to our SOTP-based TP are 1) prolonged economic sluggishness affecting loan growth and asset quality; and 2) the impact of new regulations from the Bank of Thailand.

Potential to sell asset management business, SCBAM

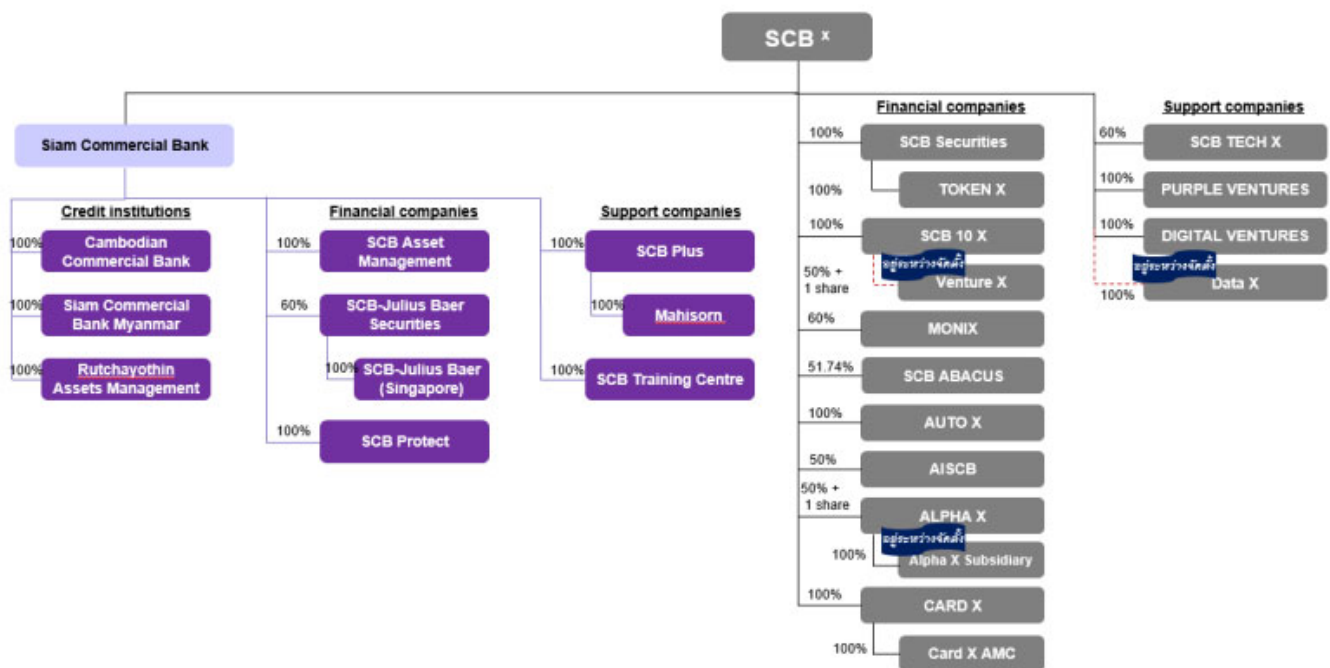

According to Bloomberg, SCB has been speaking with financial advisers to explore a potential transaction for SCBAM, anonymous sources claim, asking not to be identified because the matter is private. A potential deal could value the business at USD1b-1.5b, according to the sources. Considerations are at an early stage and SCB could still decide against pursuing any deal, the sources said. A representative for Bangkok-based SCB X didn't immediately respond to requests for comment. Banks in the region are seeking to raise capital by selling non-core assets, while some asset managers are looking for growth via mergers and acquisitions. Also in Thailand, Kasikornbank (KBANK, BUY, 2023 TP THB192) has been weighing options, including a sale of its asset management unit amid interest from potential buyers like Europe's largest fund manager Amundi SA, Bloomberg News has reported.

Selling some portion of SCBAM could be the best option

SCB informed the SET that such discussions are in the early stages and there is no assurance that any such transaction may occur. To us, the company is in the process of transforming itself into a holding company, seeking future businesses to invest in and unlock its shareholder value. Consequently, we think SCB might consider selling some portion or all of SCBAM, depending on the valuation and business opportunity. SCB currently indirectly holds 100% of SCBAM via SCB Bank.

If SCB sells 100% of SCBAM for THB36b-54b, it would net an extra gain after tax of cTHB29b-43b, implying THB8.4-12.7/share. However, we would not expect the bank to book all of the extra gain to its net profit. We believe it would utilise it to set aside a special provision like when it had a special gain from the sale of SCBLife, and similar to what TMBThanachart Bank (TTB TB, BUY, TP THB1.4) did when it sold TMB Asset Management (TMBAM).

Exhibit 1: SCB's structure

Source: SCB; FSSIA's compilation

To us, if SCB sells some portion to a fund management expert(s), this could be the best option as the buyer(s) could support SCB to expand its business opportunities, possibly to expand its business abroad, amid the tighter competition in the asset management business in Thailand. The bank could also continue to enjoy a potential rise in SCBAM's net profit, while getting a lump sum to expand into other businesses in the future. On top of that, this could unlock value for SCB's shareholders.

SCBAM's background

SCBAM was set up in 1992 and manages mutual funds. Its net profits during 2018-2021 were cTHB1.4b-1.6b yearly, which normally contributed c4% of SCB's total net profit. SCBAM's 2021 net profit was THB1.6b, with a THB1.6b 2021 book value. Its net asset value under management reached THB1.6t.

Might command the same valuation as KAsset

The latest asset management deal in Thailand was the sale of a 65% stake in TMBAM to Prudential's Eastspring by TMB in Sep-18. The bank did not disclose the selling price, but it booked a gain of THB7.6b. Based on our estimate, the selling price for a 65% stake would be around THB8b (TMBAM's book value as of 2018 = THB1b), implying that the total value of TMBAM was THB12.7b.

As of 2018, TMBAM recorded a net profit/book value/AUM of THB0.56/THB1.0b/THB380b. Thus, the selling price would be valued at 23x P/E, 13x P/BV, and 0.033x P/AUM.

As for KBANK potentially selling KASSET, based on Bloomberg's latest data that the selling price should be USD1.5b, it would imply a valuation of 19x P/E, 32x P/BV, and 0.034x P/AUM.

If SCB sells 100% of SCBAM in the range of THB36b-54b, it would imply a valuation in the range of 23-34x P/E, 23-34x P/BV, and 0.022-0.034x P/AUM. We think that the valuation of SCBAM might be as high as KAsset in terms of P/AUM, as their reputations and asset AUM are likely the same.

RECOMMENDATION STRUCTURE

Stock ratings

Stock ratings are based on absolute upside or downside, which we define as $(\text{target price}^* - \text{current price}) / \text{current price}$.

BUY (B). The upside is 10% or more.

HOLD (H). The upside or downside is less than 10%.

REDUCE (R). The downside is 10% or more.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

* In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.
