IRC missed profit estimates

IRC posted a lower-than-expected profit for 1QFY23 (Oct-Dec 2022) as energy-related costs pressured its margin. Its net profit stood at THB15.7m (-51% q-q, -42% y-y), missing our estimate by 28.6%. 1QFY23 sales revenue was down 4.0% q-q from the effect of seasonality, but up 4.3% y-y to THB1.5b. The country's improved economic activities have positively impacted the automotive industry. In the first quarter, car production in Thailand rose by 5.2% q-q and 9.6% y-y, and motorcycle production grew by 0.2% q-q and 8.0% y-y.

Energy-related costs pressured margin

The company's gross margin, however, slowly recovered to 7.0% in 1QFY23 from 6.8% in 4QFY22, but slid from 8.6% in 1QFY22. Raw material costs, namely synthetic rubber, polymers, and other chemicals, were still affected by the shortage of several significant upstream materials, as well as high energy costs. The q-q higher SG&A to sales in 1QFY23 was the result of higher marketing costs to boost sales.

Forecast maintained on expectation of lower raw material costs

Although IRC's 1QFY23 profit contributes only 8.2% of our full-year forecast, we believe it may be too soon to revise our assumptions. We believe that oil prices passed their 15-year peak in mid-2022, and they are likely to hover around USD70-80 per barrel in 2023. Therefore, we expect IRC's gross margin to gradually improve to the high single digits in FY23, but remain below the five-year historical average during the pre-Covid period at 13.1%.

Maintain HOLD with the same TP of THB15.50

We maintain HOLD with the same TP of THB15.50 based on 16x FY23E P/E, equal to its five-year historical average. With relatively high raw material costs compared to its peers, IRC could take more time to recover to the pre-Covid level. However, IRC's strength is its financial structure – the company had cash and cash equivalents of THB1.3b at the end of 1QFY23 equal to THB6.69 per share or 47% of its current share price.

RECOMMENDATION STRUCTURE

Stock ratings

Stock ratings are based on absolute upside or downside, which we define as $(\text{target price}^* - \text{current price}) / \text{current price}$.

BUY (B). The upside is 10% or more.

HOLD (H). The upside or downside is less than 10%.

REDUCE (R). The downside is 10% or more.

Unless otherwise specified, these recommendations are set with a 12-month horizon. Thus, it is possible that future price volatility may cause a temporary mismatch between upside/downside for a stock based on market price and the formal recommendation.

* In most cases, the target price will equal the analyst's assessment of the current fair value of the stock. However, if the analyst doesn't think the market will reassess the stock over the specified time horizon due to a lack of events or catalysts, then the target price may differ from fair value. In most cases, therefore, our recommendation is an assessment of the mismatch between current market price and our assessment of current fair value.
