PRIMA MARINE (PRM TB) - Middle East tensions pose no risk; Maintain BUY TP THB9.50

No impact from Middle East tensions

PRM operates two vessel segments serving customers in the Middle East—Crude Oil Carriers (COC) and Offshore Support Vessels (OSV)—both of which face no operational risk, no additional revenue impact, and no incremental costs from the current Middle East situation. The COC business operates three VLCCs transporting crude oil for TOP under 10-year time charter contracts expiring in 2031–2033, where war risk insurance is borne by the customer. Meanwhile, four OSVs are deployed in the Middle East serving ADNOC and NMDC Group under five-year bareboat charters, with customers responsible for operating expenses.

Focus on PCT and OSV to drive overseas growth

PRM’s 2026 strategy continues to focus on overseas markets, where demand remains strong for vessels supporting oil and gas exploration and production as well as the transportation of petroleum products and liquid chemicals. The company therefore prioritizes growth in its PCT and OSV segments. PRM currently operates 39 PCT vessels and plans to expand the fleet by five vessels in 2026, with two delivered in 1Q26 (revenue starting 2Q26) and three more scheduled for delivery in July–September.

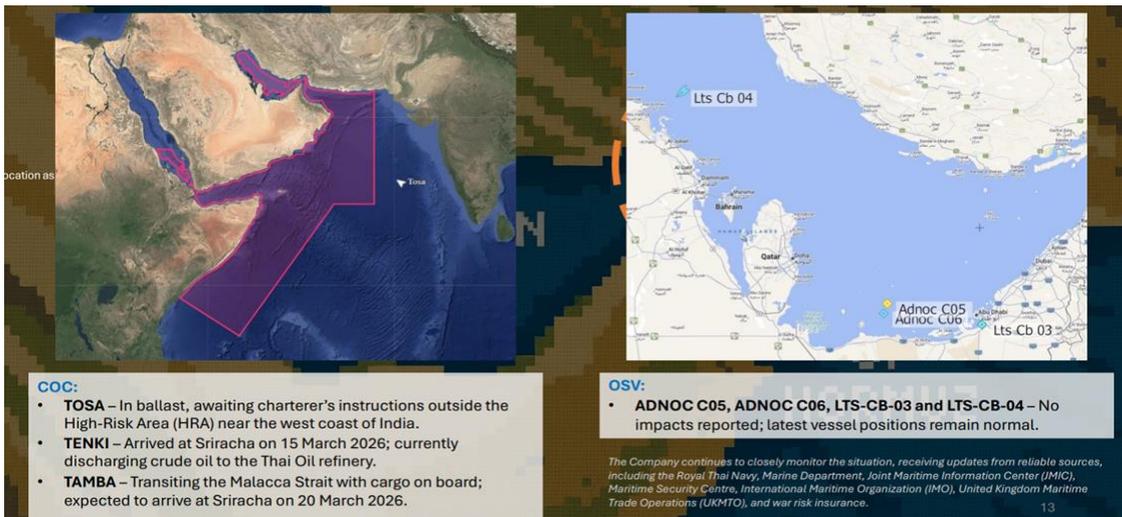

Strong crew boat demand in the Middle East

Demand for crew boats in the Middle East is expected to grow, supported by higher crude oil and natural gas production and the shift toward hybrid crew boat technology to improve efficiency and reduce emissions. PRM has secured four long-term contracts in the region, including two hybrid crew boats serving ADNOC since early 2025 and two vessels serving NMDC Group since Nov 2025, under five-year charters.

Maintain earnings forecast and TP; BUY maintained

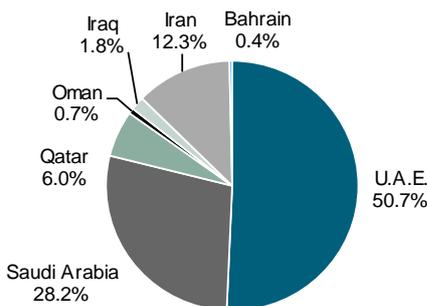

We expect 1Q26 core profit to increase both q-q and y-y, although FSU utilization declined during the first two months of 1Q26 due to a customer-requested vessel swap, operations remained stable overall. We maintain our 2026 core profit forecast and target price of THB9.50 (2026E P/E 10x), incorporating the cancellation of 172.9m treasury shares. PRM will pay a 2H25 dividend of THB0.25 per share (3.3% yield) with XD on 6 May 2026. BUY maintained.

SAPPE (SAPPE TB) - Recovery Stumbles; Downgrade to HOLD TP THB33.00

Reviewing 2026 growth target (previously +15% y-y)

Management previously targeted at least 15% y-y revenue growth in 2026, driven mainly by Indonesia, where the company secured a second distributor expected to start contributing sales from late 2Q26. The U.S. market is another key driver following completed price adjustments, with orders gradually recovering. The company had also expected Middle East demand to recover, with orders improving from 4Q25–1Q26 and shipments proceeding well in Jan–Feb. However, the recent war disrupted loading in March, which could limit 1Q26 revenue growth below target. We preliminarily estimate 1Q26 revenue growth at 10–12% y-y.

Logistics disruptions emerging; cost pressures rising

Management indicated that shipments to the Middle East (8.8% of total revenue) have been disrupted, while other routes remain largely unaffected, including Asia and the U.S. Shipments to Europe are still ongoing but now take around 2–3 weeks longer. Potential increases in freight costs should have limited impact, as the company sells under FOB terms. For reference, freight rates during the 2022 COVID peak were around 4x higher than current levels. In terms of cost structure, PET resin accounts for 7–8% of total costs, energy 4–5% and logistics about 5% of total revenue. FSSIA estimates that every 10% increase in oil and plastic costs could reduce profit by around 5.8%.

2026 earnings cut after removing ME revenue for 10 months

We cut our 2026E net profit by 13.5% to THB842m (+8.5% y-y) after significantly reducing Middle East and other export revenues by 58%, assuming shipments only occurred during Jan–Feb while exports to other regions remain normal. Under this assumption, Middle East and other revenues in 2026 would fall to THB274m (-55% y-y), accounting for 5.1% of total revenue (down from 11.2% previously). We also lower our gross margin assumption to 43.5% (from 44.6%), reflecting lower capacity utilization. Our THB/USD remains unchanged at THB33.

Downgrade to HOLD amid ongoing war risks

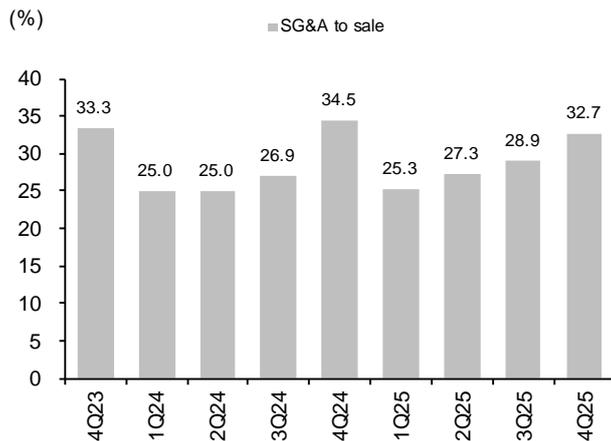

We downgrade to HOLD and cut our TP to THB33 (from THB38), based on an unchanged 12x PE. Downside risks remain from higher-than-expected energy and packaging costs, as well as potential logistics disruptions beyond the Middle East route. The stock could become attractive again once the war situation and oil prices stabilize.

Economic news

- New gas shipment heading to Thailand BANGKOK POST: Thailand is set to receive a new shipment of liquefied natural gas (LNG) from overseas, ensuring adequate fuel for power generation as electricity demand surges during the hot season, according to an energy official who requested anonymity. Roughly 28-30% of imported LNG passes through the Strait of Hormuz, which remains closed due to the ongoing US-Iran conflict. However, some shipments bound for Thailand have already cleared the strait and are en route, the official said. Current reserves are expected to last until the end of April, providing a buffer against supply disruptions. In response to the geopolitical risks, the Energy Regulatory Commission (ERC) instructed seven domestic gas shippers to diversify supply sources beyond the Middle East. The companies comprise: national oil and gas conglomerate PTT Plc and its subsidiary PTT Global LNG, the Electricity Generating Authority of Thailand (Egat), Gulf Development Plc, Hin Kong Power Holdings Co, B.Grimm Power Plc, Electricity Generating Plc and Siam Cement Plc. Thailand is urgently seeking new LNG production resources in Africa, Asia-Pacific and the US to reduce reliance on Middle Eastern imports. The official said securing alternative suppliers is critical to maintaining energy stability during the hot season, which is expected to be exacerbated by climate change, driving electricity demand to record highs.
- Gold faces price fall amid rising inflation BANGKOK POST: Gold prices could slide below US$5,000 an ounce if rising energy prices and mounting inflation concerns stemming from war in the Middle East prompts the Federal Reserve's meeting this week to signal fewer or no interest rate cuts this year, traders say. While the market widely expects the US central bank to maintain the federal funds rate at 3.50-3.75% at its meeting on March 17-18, Warut Rungkham, head of analysis at YLG Bullion & Futures Co, said investors are keenly awaiting a statement from the Fed on the potential for rate cuts later this year. Fed funds futures show traders recently pulling back bets that the Fed will ease the policy rate until at least September, with an implied 56.1% probability that the central bank will refrain from a cut at its July meeting, compared to a 43.4% chance a day earlier, according to the CME Group's FedWatch tool. "As oil prices jumped to surpass $120 per barrel earlier, investors have started to realise that the Fed would be in a difficult position to cut rates with some expecting the first cut would not be seen until June 2027," Mr Warut said. "If the war in the Middle East prolongs, the US central bank could be forced to increase interest rates, summarily to what we saw during the height of Russia-Ukraine conflict in 2022." Gold was little changed on Monday, trading at around $5,020 an ounce in early afternoon trade. US gold futures for April delivery fell 0.6% to $5,031.60.
- Airlines reluctant to hike fares during Songkran BANGKOK POST: Amid subdued demand from long-haul visitors, airlines are reluctant to increase domestic airfares during the upcoming Songkran holidays, with the Civil Aviation Authority of Thailand (CAAT) reporting no abnormal surge in fares over the period despite higher fuel prices. Deputy director Sarun Benjanirat said the CAAT earlier met Thai airlines to ensure sufficient flights are available for the Songkran holiday to meet demand, with capacity this year expected to rise by 5% year-on-year. This increased capacity would help keep airfares at appropriate levels, as many airlines have taken delivery of additional aircraft, he said. According to the Airlines Association of Thailand (AAT), Thai carriers are offering special airfare promotions for next month's Songkran holiday, with discounts of up to 30% on domestic routes. Mr Sarun said the authority has been monitoring airfares for the holiday period and has not yet observed any unusually high prices among Thai carriers, despite the ongoing conflict in the Middle East.
- Vietnam braces for flight cuts from April after China, Thailand ban jet fuel exports BANGKOK POST: Vietnamese authorities have warned the country's aviation industry to prepare for potential flight reductions from April after China and Thailand halted exports of jet fuel due to the Iran war, increasing the likelihood of shortages. Vietnam imports more than two-thirds of its jet fuel needs, with 60% coming from China and Thailand, according to documents from the aviation regulator and importers seen by Reuters. "There are risks of jet fuel shortages for Vietnamese airlines from the beginning of April and the following months," the Civil Aviation Authority of Vietnam said in a March 9 document sent to the ministry in charge of transport. It said airlines should review their plans, especially for domestic routes, and instructed airport operators to prepare additional parking space for Vietnamese carriers "in case they have to cut down on operations due to lack of aviation fuel." Vietnam has also seen reduced supplies from Singapore, the document showed. In separate documents viewed by Reuters, major importers Petrolimex and Skypex said they could only guarantee jet fuel supplies for March, warning April contracts may not be fulfilled by suppliers. Skypex urged the regulator to restrict air transport to essential domestic routes if the conflict drags on.

Corporate news

- Thai banks struggling to make money BANGKOK POST: The Thai banking industry is entering a transition period in which banks can no longer rely on strong interest income or generate the high levels of return on equity (ROE) as seen in the past, according to the chief executive of TMBThanachart Bank (ttb). Given persistent economic headwinds and structural problems, Thailand is expected to face sluggish investment and elevated household debt for some time. In this environment, debt deleveraging will play an important role in mitigating economic risks and gradually supporting long-term growth, said Piti Tantakasem, chief executive of ttb. "Amid ongoing debt deleveraging, banks are unlikely to generate as much interest income as in the past. The industry is also unlikely to achieve ROE levels of around 17-18%, which were common previously," said Mr Piti. Ttb, a mid-sized lender and one of Thailand's six domestic systemically important banks (D-SIBs), expects total loan growth in 2026 to be in the range of 0-2%. The bank also aims to lift its ROE to around 10% over the next few years, up from 8.6% in 2025. In terms of lending, the bank will mainly focus on retail and small and medium-sized enterprise (SME) loans, while prioritising borrowers with strong repayment records and sound financial discipline. A risk-based pricing approach is another key tool for the bank to attract new customers while supporting prudent and sustainable loan growth.

- PTT Mobilises Emergency Energy Strategy as Domestic Fuel Demand Triples THE NATION: National energy giant pivots to African and American crude imports and ramps up LNG supplies to counter Middle East supply chain disruptions. Thailand's energy titan, PTT, has moved to reassure the public that the nation's fuel and gas reserves remain robust despite the worsening geopolitical climate in the Middle East. As tensions between Iran, the United States, and Israel continue to destabilise global markets, PTT has activated a comprehensive contingency plan to diversify its supply routes and safeguard domestic energy security. To mitigate risks associated with the Strait of Hormuz, PTT's international trading arms are rerouting shipments and increasing crude oil imports from alternative sources in Africa and the Americas. These measures are designed to ensure that the group's refineries—which provide more than 60% of the country's petroleum products—maintain uninterrupted production. The company has also adjusted its natural gas strategy, requesting that offshore producers in the Gulf of Thailand and Myanmar delay scheduled maintenance and maximise output. Furthermore, PTT is securing additional shipments of Spot LNG to compensate for any potential shortfalls in the international market. On the retail front, PTT Stations have reported an extraordinary surge in demand, with fuel sales jumping by up to three times the usual volume. This spike has led to temporary "dry spells" at certain forecourts as logistics teams struggle to keep pace.
